Burford to Cirencester

Nestling along the slope of the hill down through the trees to the River Windrush, Burford is steeped in history and rich in architectural heritage. Burford is full of Cotswold stone houses with hidden secrets that can be glimpsed through narrow alleyways and courtyards. One of the oldest buildings in Burford is a magnificent church of almost cathedral-like proportions. It was built from around 1175. The town is also a renowned centre for the antiques trade.

The route winds its way through many small Cotswold villages including Eastleach Turville, Coln St Aldwyns before reaching Bibury. William Morris called Bibury 'the most beautiful village in England' and it remains very picturesque today in its riverside setting. The village contains several buildings connected to the wool industry that date back to the 14th century as well as water meadows and trout fisheries that stretch along the Coln river valley.

Cirencester is a must see thriving market town at the heart of The Cotswolds with ancient Roman origins. The Corinium museum showcases the finest Roman collection so leave the 21st Century behind and discover the treasures and history of The Cotswolds. Cirencester mixes old with new having a vibrant arts centre with workshops, Britain's oldest open air swimming pool and beautiful abbey grounds. The amazing selection of independent shops and restaurants sit alongside the 'woolgothic' church, which dominates the marketplace.
